ON a chilly night in 1962, a man named Robert Hartfield was standing in his sister's backyard then his sister's dogs were howling he saw something out there in the darkness. He saw a giant creature walking on two legs he went to wake his brother up Hartfield was coming around the other side of the house and he ran smack into the bear but it wasn't bear it was different creature he ran the story quickly spread.

After that a group of men searched in the woods for it but they found nothing. For years people have been talking about a giant hairy creature lurking in the California Woods. They call it Bigfoot.

I don't believe in Bigfoot because first when two people saw a hairy creature that could be a guy who made a costume to scare them. Second, the foot prints look like wood carving foot made feet. Third, Bigfoot wouldn't reveal himself. Finally, they use Bigfoot museums and legends to make money out of people.
