What do you think Granddaddy and Calpurnia did to solve the problem? Use evidence in the story to support your opinion.

4pts. I think Calpurnia and Granddaddy made Travis' turkey's seem different to make him think they were someone else's.
They did this to make Travis feel better.

Good!

2. At the end of Chapter 22 ("Thanksgiving"), Callie says, "But it was part of the hard bargain I'd made with Granddaddy, who only regarded me from his end of the table and nodded in approval." What was the bargain that she and Granddaddy had made? 4 points

Yes!
The bargain was that if Granddaddy helped her pretend to switch the turkeys then Calpurnia will take care of the turkeys next time.

3. Where did their Thanksgiving turkey come from? 3 points

Smiley
The Thanksgiving turkeys came from Travis's turkey's.

4. What clues did you use to help you figure out these answers? Discuss 3. 4 points

Good work!
One clue was that they said they made a bargain. The next clue was Calpurnia had scratches on her arms and Granddaddy had black paint on his fingers. The final clue was that Calpurnia would be able to take care of the turkey's next time.
